

GREEN PATH
CAREERS

Embark On Your Green Career Today!

Did you know that energy efficiency is one of the fastest-growing career fields in the country? Millions of Americans work in energy efficiency, with more jobs being added each year. Employers here in Southern California are actively seeking qualified, experienced workers to fill these jobs.

SoCalREN's Green Path Careers (GPC) Program is a no-cost pathway from training to employment in the growing green economy! Join us and enjoy personalized support every step of the way.

What Careers Can I Pursue?

GPC participants can become certified as Energy Auditors, Residential Trainees, Residential Installers, Residential Service Technicians, Construction Consultants, and Energy Efficiency Technical Specialists.

What Is Energy Efficiency?

Energy efficiency means using less electricity or natural gas to power homes, apartments, and other buildings. Energy efficiency improvements help people save money and help protect the environment, too!

Green Path Careers Participation Steps

Sign up for
Green Path
Careers

Personal
Enrichment
Training

Energy
Efficiency Skills
Certification

Paid Work
Experience

Energy
Efficiency
Career

Am I Eligible?

To be eligible for participation, individuals must:

- Be opportunity youth and/or adults, ages 18 and up.
- Have a Social Security number.
- Commit to completing the program.

What Trainings Are Available?

We are currently offering training for the Calcerts Residential Alterations Certification Course (HVAC). Trainings will be held in-person or online.

Calcerts HVAC training includes:

- Title 20 California HERS Regulations
- Title 24 Energy Efficiency Standards
- Advanced Manometer Features
- Title 24 Verification Protocols
- Work Scope Definitions
- Duct Leakage Test Protocols
- Airflow and Fan Efficacy
- Systems Airflow Measurements
- Fan Watt Draw Measurements
- Refrigerant Charge and Airflow

What Additional Support Does GPC Offer?

Our team is here to support you on your path to employment by offering case management, on-the-job training enrollment assistance, employer connections, employment assistance, and referrals to additional training programs.

Ready To Get Started?

For questions and more information, contact WET@socalren.org or visit socalren.org/gpc.

Scan the QR code to start your energy efficiency career by completing the application.

Green Path Careers is offered through the Southern California Regional Energy Network (SoCalREN), led by the Los Angeles County Office of Energy and Environment and in partnership with a group of local government and community organizations dedicated to building and supporting the next generation of Southern California's energy efficiency workforce.

Energy Efficiency Industry Reference Data: 2019 U.S. Energy and Employment Report, National Association of State Energy Officials.

Updated 05/03/24